The Worst of All Crimes
Virginia's Sterilizing Law
3 Per Cent. Are Criminals
Can Science Check Crime?

By Arthur Brisbane
Copyright, 1927, by Star Co.

GALLUP, N. M., Dec. 21.—California and the whole country are shocked by a dreadful kidnapping and murder in Los Angeles. The unhappy father, obeying the orders of the kidnaper, handed him $1,000 in gold certificates and in return received part of the body of his 12-year-old daughter, dreadfully mutilated.

The worst of crimes is kidnapping, since it inflicts upon fathers and mothers torments most horrible. That crime should be punished with utmost severity, and when guilt is certain, with no delay. Fortunately no crime is more dangerous to the criminal himself. For it arouses intense rage, in the public mind and concentrated cooperation of the entire population with police authorities. Escape for criminals is rare.

Could anything be done, by science or otherwise, to diminish the number of criminals? Usually weak minded or mentally abnormal criminals act that cost the country billions of dollars, and cause millions to live in anxiety, are the work of five per cent. of the population. Is there any way to identify and eliminate the criminal and always dissect or feeble in mind five per cent.?

The State of Virginia passed a "sterilization law," and the case of a girl 18 years old, sterilized under that law, and prevented from having children in future was taken to the United States Supreme Court. The law of Virginia was upheld.

The mother of the 18-year-old girl was told, "The girl herself was feeble minded, the girl herself was feeble minded and had given birth to a feeble minded child. The highest court in Virginia decided that 'Three generations of imbeciles are enough.' The sterilization law was applied to the 18-year-old girl, and unless the law is changed the sterilizing operation will probably be performed on that girl's feeble minded daughter, when she reaches the age of motherhood.

Such a law makes possible great abuses, but it might be in Virginia, surrounded with safeguards. In ages past the weak minded and criminals were weeded out remorselessly by laws righteously severe. In England alone thousands of children were executed for trifling crimes. There is no escape from this.

Provincetown, Dec. 21.—Two navy divers reached the side of the sunken submarine S4 this afternoon. An hour after they ascended no report of their findings was made public from the mine-sweeper Falcon, flagship of the rescue fleet. This silence was taken to indicate they found no sign of life aboard the ship.

COADY AND PELLETIER GUILTY ON 2 CHARGES; BAIL SET AT $10,000

Lieutenant-Inspector Thomas F. Coady and Motorcycle Officer Henry E. Pelletier of the Cambridge police were both found guilty today on charges of attempted extortion and conspiracy to extort.

The verdict, reached, was returned by a jury of six men and five women in the Superior Court, and was given after a trial of over two weeks. The jury found the two men guilty of attempting to extort from the Cambridge police a bribe of $10,000. The jury also found them guilty of conspiracy to extort from the Cambridge police a bribe of $10,000.

SECOND MAN HUNTED AS KIDNAP SLAYER'S PAL

Los Angeles, Dec. 21 (AP)—The hunt for a second man who is believed to have aided in the kidnapping and slaying of 12-year-old Marian Parker was intensified today by the police. The police today said two persons had been seen with the kidnaper, Edward Wickman, at his apartment house in Los Angeles. The police are now hunting for the second man.

DEMANDING MEXICAN INQUIRY GO TO BOTTOM

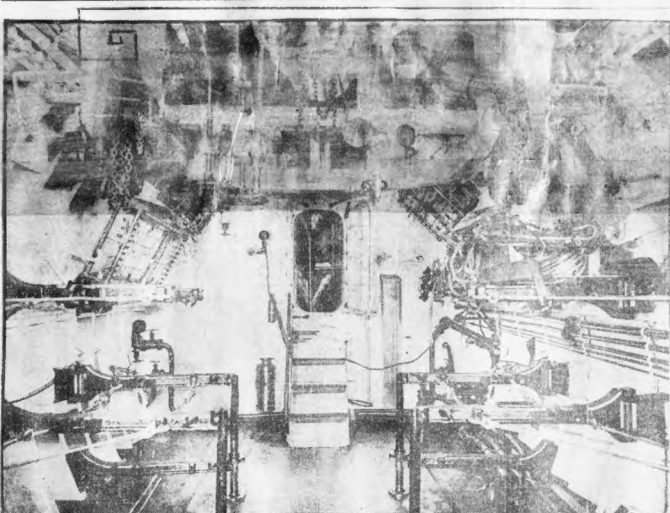

New Orleans, La., Dec. 20.—The Senate committee investigating the Mexican situation today demanded that the inquiry go to the bottom of the matter.

FOR RENT

HOMES in every section of the city are offered for rent daily in classifications 95 and 97 of Boston American Classified Ads. Selection is easy because the ads are grouped by districts.

Such a law makes possible great abuses, but it might be in Virginia, surrounded with safeguards. In ages past the weak minded and criminals were weeded out remorselessly by laws righteously severe. In England alone thousands of children were executed for trifling crimes. There is no escape from this.

'Where There's Life There's Hope!' Is Hope Dead?

HAS "TORTURE CHAMBER" ON S4 BECOME AN UNDERSEA TOMB? Rescue workers at Provincetown today renewed their frantic efforts to answer the question which has been on virtually every tongue in America: "CAN THEY GET 'EM OUT ALIVE?" Time alone can tell, and speed now is the greatest factor. Photo shows the torpedo room of the S4, from which six of the imprisoned men communicated with rescue workers. Official naval photo made at Portsmouth Navy Yard.

REMUS AIMS TO 'STIFLE' DRY LAW 'INSULT'

CHICAGO, O., Dec. 21 (N.S.)—George Remus, convicted of the murder of his wife, Ingene, "on the sole grounds of insanity," will dedicate the rest of his life, he says, "to stifle the insult known as the prohibition law."

It was by circumventing the law that Remus a few years ago became known as the nation's most audacious and spectacular bootlegger, building up a gross business of $100,000,000. He made a profit of some $7,000,000—and had practically all of it. He knows the booze business as practically no other man does and can speak with some authority.

Besides tearing the country as a bootlegger he plans to write a book, "The Life of George Remus."

Remus probably would have gone to jail for the murder of his wife, when he shot her October 6 in Eden Park, had not Judge Chester H. Shook eliminated from his instructions to the jury the "straight not guilty" form of verdict. The jury wanted to give Remus a Christmas present in the form of his freedom, but they could not under the law. So they did the next best thing—returned a verdict of "not guilty on the sole ground of insanity."

Remus will get a sanity hearing December 28. Judge William H. Lander of the Probate Court announced today. Remus was denied bond and must remain in jail.

KIN OF S4 MEN OFFERED USE OF U. S. SHIPS

As the wife of one of the men trapped alive aboard the sunken submarine "S4" started today for Provincetown, Rear Admiral Philip Andrews at the Boston Navy Yard extended an invitation to all relatives of survivors of the crew to ride to the scene on navy vessels.

Mrs. Mildred Rothwell Crab of Fall River, wife of Russell Crab, one of the six men known to be alive up to last night, started for Provincetown at noon before learning of this invitation.

The admiral's invitation was his answer to criticism regarding Rear Admiral Frank's blunt refusal to give information as to whereabouts of the six men known to be alive up to last night, started for Provincetown at noon before learning of this invitation.

"Any relatives who wish to go to Provincetown will be taken care of if they will see me personally," said Admiral Andrews. "It is a long trip to Provincetown by train and we will transport them on one of the vessels that are constantly going there."

He is assigning Lieutenant C. H. N. Miller to go to Provincetown to see after anybody at Provincetown making information about relatives aboard the "S4" and to keep reporters and the public advised of conditions. He will have a Coast Guard patrol boat to assist him going to and from the scene of the wreck.

"I regret Mr. Mitchell did not get the information he wanted," he was told to know, had he known what he was to do.

"Of course the chief concern is to get all the men. Difficulties encountered by the navy must not be forgotten by the public."

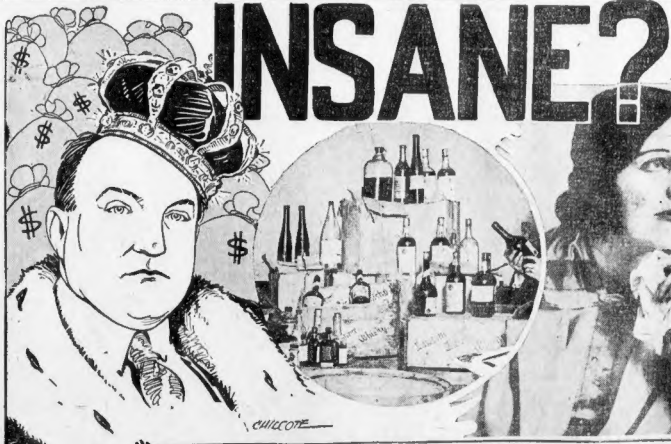

DANCER TURNS TO ALTAR

MAURICE'S WIDOW TO WED
An Associated Press dispatch from New York says Mrs. Eleonora Ambrose Maurice, widow of Maurice, the dancer, and Charles Sablin, her new dancing partner, today obtained a license to marry. They said they would wed Saturday. Maurice died on May 7.

King Remus' Mind

Saves Him from Chair

DID THIS UNHINGE THE REASON OF THE KING?

Drawing of George Remus as "King of the bootleggers" and a quantity of choice liquors, which made him a fortune of millions before he was trapped and sent to prison. When he got out, stripped of his fortune and branded "ex-convict," he shot his "amputee" wife to death, claiming she betrayed him, stole his fortune and sought his further undoing. Now he has been acquitted as insane at the time he killed her.

"HAPPIEST GIRL IN OHIO"

Romola Remus, daughter of the "Bootleg King," exclaimed after his acquittal following a dramatic trial for the murder of his wife. "I'm the happiest girl in Ohio!"

"I GOT AMERICAN JUSTICE"

When the verdict was announced, Remus—who is shown here in a characteristic fighting pose—leaped up and exclaimed: "I thank you folks. I only asked for American justice and I got it!"

"AVENGER" FIGHTS IN VAIN

Ruth Remus, his adopted daughter and the daughter of the wife he slew, fought bitterly to convict him. She went on the stand as she cried dramatically for revenge for her dead mother.

50 SHAKEN IN 'L' COLLISION

Fifty passengers were shaken up and street car service was stopped for half an hour today when a heavy coal truck and an out-of-control trolley car collided in Central square, East Boston.

Thousands of men and girls on their way to work and as many more women bound for the downtown shopping district were forced to wait for the trolley car to get on its feet.

The trolley car was knocked off the rails and the truck badly wrecked, was spawled across the railroad tracks, completely blocking service in both directions. The trolley car was the car was William O'Brien and the truck driver Charles Dorney of West Canton street, according to the police department.

DESCRIBES HOW GERMANS SAVE SUNKEN SUBS

A former lieutenant of a German submarine, who was decorated by the Kaiser for sinking "enemy" vessels during the World War, delivered today that the German submarine rescue ship Vulcan could have brought the 21 to the surface in from three to five hours.

The declaration came from Albert Heide of Hamburg and it is in direct opposition to the general belief that there is no vessel in the world equipped to rescue without delay believe undersea craft.

"I do not say this in pride of the German Navy," I am speaking as one who has taken out first citizenship papers and with the prize that brave sailors in submarines are at least given a fighting chance for their lives if their ships fail to rise after submergence," he said.

"I personally assisted in the raising of two German submarines by the Vulcan. Both of these were at the great depth of 100 fathoms. The first was the U-23 and the other the U-29. In fact, the U-29 was brought up three times and each time the lives of the men were saved when rescued by the Vulcan."

"The U-29 was sunk near the Isle of Rhé in 1917. She went down 130 feet. She was commanded by an officer named Rosenberg. The experienced engine trouble. The ship's telephone line was severed by the surface, turning a bright light and carrying the message that the sub was in distress."

"The Vulcan arrived after a 12-hour run. Divers attached the Vulcan's cables to special attachments on the sub and within five hours the ship and crew were high, dry and safe on board."

"The U-23 lay on the bed of the ocean, 200 feet below water. She was hit during a fog by a destroyer. All her compartments were open. All men disappeared. The Vulcan brought her to the surface in three and one half hours. She moved to land before. This tragedy of the sea occurred near the city of Kiel, Germany."

Heide described the Vulcan as being larger than many of the smaller transatlantic passenger ships. In comparison, he said, it is larger than the S-S. Westphalia.

"It is officially known as the submarine rescue ship," he said. "It is really two ships in one. In fact, that it has but one hull. It has two decks and bearing up to the low from the stern between the two sections of the ship is the open sea."

"Bridge work spans the opening between the two sections. Attached to the bridge are cables which are lowered by cables and attached to the special attachments on the submarine."

"Once the cables are secure, compressed air is driven into a down huge water tanks of the rescue ship, forcing the water and then the combination of cutting cables and lifting by the cables, the sub is raised to the surface."

"Once the submarine is raised to a proper position, beams are placed beneath it for support and the work is completed," Heide said.

ANTIQUES BEING EXHIBITED TO AID HOSPITAL, SAYS BETTY ALDEN

UNFAILINGLY IS AN ANTIQUE EXHIBITION A MONEY-GETTER FOR CHARITY. Mrs. Joseph F. Woods and her confederates see it in that light and delightfully put their ideas into execution. Indeed, they go further, and add afternoon tea to the attraction, thus providing for the exhausted shopper, distraught at the day's end, a quiet haven of rest and a stimulation, far, far from her thoroughfare and howling traffic.

All this is at No. 52 Beacon street, just on the slope of the famous street, where a fine old mansion is filled from cellar to attic with a marvelous collection of antiques, and where the "five o'clock" cup of cheer may be had after antiques shopping.

THE PLAN OF THE BENEFIT IS REALLY MOST INGENUOUS. THE ISRAEL SACKS collection has been installed at No. 52. It comprises priceless Sheraton, Hepplewhite, Adam, Chippendale and Phyfe examples from the oldtime master craftsmen. To inspect these museum pieces an admission is charged, and this sum goes to the coffers of the Free Hospital for Women. Thus the charity is accomplished very pleasantly. The tea is accomplished very so pleasantly, too. Mrs. Woods seems to it that various hostesses are on hand to sit behind a handsome tea service in the perfectly appointed dining room, and ask whether it's "cream or sugar."

YESTERDAY MRS. CHANNING WELLS WAS hostess. Russes nodded in silver holders and candlelight shone on gleaming silver and mahogany; just as it would have been in the days when the Elitton James family occupied this dignified Beacon street residence. Another Tuesday and Mrs. Pierpont L. Stackpole is to be hostess, and on other days Mrs. Gay Waring and Mrs. F. L. W. Richardson are on the list for hostesses. The exhibition should add materially to the Free Hospital for Women fund that is just now in the "drive" throes and steadily and surely nearing its golden goal.

THE BAND WORKING WITH Mrs. Woods is, in its individual members, closely identified with the "drive" now on. Mrs. Frederick S. Converse is at its head, and it includes such important ones as Mesdames George R. Peabody, Jr., Robert Morse, Moses Williams and F. L. W. Richardson. In the register one finds interesting names inscribed. Sinclair Lewis, the author, has been in to look over the collection and incidentally aid the charity. It's a collection the like of which is not often seen. The early craftsmen bulled beautifully and enduringly. Ade surely enhances the perfection such as they produced.

MANHATTAN SOCIAL RIFLES make reflection even to Boston, several hundred miles away as the crow flies. Specially for the entertainment of Mrs. Betty Alden, the local sea. For Miss Talley, petite and golden-haired and one of Gotham's most important buds, is having two enormous parties given for her one this evening and one tomorrow evening, and certain smart Bostonians of the younger persuasion are invited down. B. F. Bristow Draper, Jr., of this Harvard classmate call him "Ben", is in the vanguard going over. In fact he's already in the city and will be registered at the Ritz during his stay.

THRICE BLESSED IS THE pretty Miss Talley. She's popular, and she's really important, and she is the darling daughter of adoring parents whose place is on the social summit and whose purses are weighty and always open when daughter is to be feted. The T. Suffers Tailors gave a lovely party for Miss Betty down at Newport last Summer, an enormous affair with metropolitan dazzle and dash. Now in Gotham, with their scores of friends, one party is not sufficient, so they are setting a precedent, pleasantly enough, and are giving two, on succeeding evenings.

MRS. B. H. BRISTOW DRAPER IS EVER SO BRIEFLY IN THE city while her eldest hopeful, just aforementioned, is there. Since she is the Lady Beautiful of Hopdale and there is always a family party to spend Christmas at "The Crossways," Mrs. Draper comes back this way on Saturday, in time for the holidays and their pleasant duties. Christmas for the townspeople of Hopdale, and in fact other days throughout the year, have special meaning because of Mrs. Draper's kindly thoughtfulness and kindler actions. She plays the Lady of the Manor delightfully and skilfully, aided and abetted by her three sons, Messrs. Bristow, Jr., Eben and Robert.

ALTHOUGH, STRICTLY SPEAKING, THE DEBUTANTE'S FESTIVAL star is declining, the social heavens continue to glint a bit here and there as fond parents and doting friends meet the debbies. Early in the New Year Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bonelli have a reservation on the debatable calendar for their Tiltan-haired daughter, Miss Barbara Bonelli. They give a luncheon on January 4 at the Ritz. Miss Bonelli as she moves through the first Winter's maze trades popularity's rose-hued path, as well she may, having vivacity and charm and more than the usual share of girlish good looks.

MR. AND MRS. AUGUSTUS V. GOODWIN ARE TEMPORARILY deserting town and their permanent in the Ritz to spend the holidays at Brackenside in Hamilton. They will have a large house party for Christmas. Brackenside is their magnificent country place, actually completed only a year or so ago, but possessing the mellow beauty which usually only the pasturing years impart to stone and mortar. Brackenside is justly famous as a North Shore estate, and is due for more fame when its private race course is completed and christened in the Goodwin manner.

THE CHRISTMAS EXODUS IS well on its way? Mrs. James H. Reed is planning to spend the holidays down at Buzzards Bay as the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Snow. It's really a family gathering, as most holiday observances have a way of being. Mr. and Mrs. Snow are the parents-in-law of Mrs. Reed's daughter, the pretty Rosamund, now Mrs. William Townsend Snow. It is in Mrs. Reed's Chestnut Hill home, by the way, that the Robert Almys are living this Winter, and where a new small daughter has only recently joined the family circle. Mrs. Almy was Miss Rosamund Adie, and the little newcomer is second of the Almy hopefuls.

STORM STOPS CUNARDER FROM IRISH LANDING. London, Dec. 21 (A.P.)—The Cunard liner Andania arrived off Cobb Inlet during the night, 30 hours overdue, because of the storm. The vessel tried to enter in vain, and then was obliged to continue on to Liverpool without landing passengers and mail for Ireland. The United States liner Republic wirelessly that it would try to enter Cobb Harbor today. Reports from continental Europe continued to tell of disaster.

TAKE BEACH AND WOMAN SLAYER TO PRISON

Trenton, N. J., Dec. 21 (AP)—Mrs. Margaret Lillendahl and William Beach arrived at state prison here at 10:30 a. m. today from the Atlantic County jail in Mays Landing, to begin service of a sentence of ten years each at hard labor. They were convicted of voluntary manslaughter for the murder of the woman's husband, Dr. William Lillendahl, near Hammonton September 13.

The couple arrived in an automobile, in the custody of Sheriff James Conine and other officials, and then started packing their few belongings.

"A more innocent woman was never sent to jail," Mrs. Lillendahl said as she threw her things into a suitcase. "It is all a nightmare."

Beach was calm and silent.

As they stepped into the brand new prison, Mrs. Lillendahl said: "The only thing that helps me now is the knowledge that my friends still have faith in my innocence."

COYNE WANTS STATE TO TAKE 'L' SYSTEM

Public ownership of the Boston Elevated Railway system was tonight proposed by Representative Francis X. Coyne of Dorchester.

Coyne declared today he was opposed to any plan to return the road to private ownership or to continue public control as favored by Governor Fuller.

Under the terms of a bill which the representative is drafting and which will be filed later in the week, Coyne has a plan which he claims will net the state enough money to pay for the property in 20 years.

He will recommend the establishment of the present franchise tax, amounting to about $200,000 a year, the setting aside of the dividends approximately $2,000,000 yearly, for a 25-year period to meet bonds at maturity to pay for the loan, and cutting the depreciation charges substantially.

The taking of the road at the option price of about $180,000,000, Coyne believes would be a better bargain for the state than by ending domain proceedings.

DUCE PARDONS 300 PRISONERS FOR XMAS

Rome, Dec. 21 (AP)—Three hundred political prisoners have received Christmas presents in the shape of conditional liberation during the past few days.

In addition to the provisional liberty granted these prisoners, there were many others who have had their sentences reduced in fulfillment of Premier Mussolini's announced intention to forget political quarrels and make as many as possible happy for the Christmas season.

MEMBERS OF OKLAHOMA LEGISLATURE ENJOINED

Oklahoma City, Dec. 21 (AP)—Members of the Oklahoma Legislature were permanently enjoined today by the Oklahoma County District Court from holding a special session.

The court ruled that the self-convened session of the Legislature is illegal, that its members cannot meet and that they cannot continue to hold office until the Legislature convenes at its regular session.

The injunction also prohibits further investigation of State officers.

where Parker is an official after pleading guilty to burglary.
"I remember how he asked me for his position again after seeing great production—which production I produced—his replies to questions and the calm manner and voice I heard over the telephone, and the coolness and nerve displayed Saturday when he met me for the exchange."
Parker said he recalled that shortly after Hickman had been released, he applied for work at another institution and Parker issued a recommendation. Hickman did not get the job.
"I cannot recall any words of reproof," Parker said, "but I do remember his reactions to the forged charges did not seem usual. He was evasive and nervous and showed very little concern."
"But if he was guilty—oh, that couldn't be—but if he was, why, naturally, no mother would want to marry a son," she said.

VICTIM'S FATHER

P. M. Parker, Los Angeles bank cashier, is the heartbroken father of slain and mutilated Marion Parker, whose brutal murder has shocked the nation.

They also were carrying a suitcase.
The unidentified companion of Hickman had open the door of the auto while Hickman passed the suitcase inside.
After hearing the story of the murder, Chief of Detective Bureau immediately ordered officers to continue their investigation of the theory that Hickman was aided by at least one other person in his crime.

The trail of the fugitive, who yesterday escaped pursuit and was later identified as Hickman, was picked up again today. The Cadillac which he outlasted a filling station attendant seeking to collect $1.95 for gasoline, was seen from Edward J. Schell and his last flight figured in a crash.

Until the accident and report came in today, no trace of the truck and the auto had been found.
"THE JEKYL—MR. HYDE"
Pending further developments police are in possession of evidence that reveals Hickman as the youthful "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde"—one a neat, orderly boy who attended church and Sunday school and never stayed out late at night, the other "The Fox," who for weeks planned, the carrying out of a cool, cunning and diabolical murder plot for re-venge.

The latter picture showed him for three weeks preceding the killing, staging a series of drug store robberies to obtain a stock of anaesthetics and sleeping potions.
In one of these robberies he is depicted to have placed a pistol in the drug store's safe and forced the frightened man to give minute instructions as to the use of the anaesthetics.

Photographs in the three holdups, shown his photographs, positively identified Hickman as the robber.
Another part of the same picture was a cool and daring youth, who on Monday morning, with thousands of dollars coming from Los Angeles on the vicinity for the child's slayer, drove an automobile over country roads with no effort of concealment.

In Culver City, a suburb, he halted a motorist's agent in whom he was known and told him he would be the next to buy a car.
He failed to keep that appointment, but by identification mark found on a towel left with the body of the slain child, a bond and officers descended upon the apartment house.

CLUES IN HIS LIFE
According to the landlady, Mrs. Elsie Broderick, Hickman stayed by her in a hallway after the police had searched his room, dropped a casual remark and left the building. He did not return. But the officers, having identified Hickman as the slayer, returned.
On this second, more minute search, the officers found stains which they ordered analyzed to determine whether they might have been cured by the slayer.

"They also found a shirt bearing the initials H. B. G. The name H. B. G. had been found inked on the neckband of a piece of shirt used to tie the bundle that was a part of the slain schoolgirl's body.
Articles found in the apartment had come from Kansas City, the former home of the slayer.

"The Hickman boy seemed a gentleman," said Percy Peck, his Sunday school teacher. "He had occasional fits of melancholy thought."
"He was such a neat, quiet, orderly boy," declared Mrs. M. C. Driscoll, the manager of the boarding house in Alhambra, a suburb, where Hickman lived for four months.
"He went to church and Sunday school. He never stayed out late at night. He was always carefully groomed, extremely polite, used good grammar and otherwise was a model boy."

PARKER SURE OF MAN
The voice of the man who made arrangements over the telephone last Saturday for the ransom of Marion Parker by her father, Percy M. Parker, was declared today by him to have been the voice of Hickman.
"At the time of the telephone conversations and while I was talking with the person after following his instructions in handing him the ransom money, I did not connect the voice and the demeanor with any employer or former employer of the bank," Parker said.
"But now, I recall the unusual manner in which Hickman talked to me about his discharge. Hickman was discharged from the bank

Mother Wants Hickman Punished—"If Guilty"

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 21 (AP)—The building firm in her contention for the right to keep and slay Marion Parker of Los Angeles, Mrs. Eva Hickman today reiterated her adamant desire "to punish him if it's true" and declared she "couldn't do that."
"If he was guilty—oh, that couldn't be—but if he was, why, naturally, no mother would want to marry a son," she said.
"If he's guilty, I want him punished," she said.
"Yes, of course, I would not discuss him. No, of course, I couldn't do that, but you know how I feel."

Non-Scouting Pact Silly, Says Runyon

By DAMON RUNYON.
THAT argument between various colleges over scouting is to my mind very silly. Scouting is a fact of life and it is not a matter of opinion. It is a fact of life and it is not a matter of opinion.

ONE thing that all football is about is to win. To win, you need to have the best players. Scouting is a fact of life and it is not a matter of opinion.

Griffo Didn't Think Much of Our Fighters

By GENE TUNNEY
World's Heavyweight Champion

Young Griffo, who died recently under tragic circumstances, was one of the greatest fighters that ever lived and one of the finest sportsmen.

The fact that he was a fighter is not what makes him great. It is his character and his spirit that make him great. He was a fighter and he was a sportsman.

He was a fighter and he was a sportsman. He was a fighter and he was a sportsman. He was a fighter and he was a sportsman.

minimally exercises for ten minutes, especially those designed to strengthen the hips.

The following exercise is excellent for the upper and lower back. It is simple, easy to perform, and should be done with your feet flat on the floor. Stand erect with your feet about shoulder width apart. Bend your knees slightly and your torso forward, keeping your knees in line with your feet. Your fingers should touch at your knees. Hold this position for 15 seconds, then bend your knees even less and your torso more forward. Hold this position for 15 seconds. Repeat this exercise 10 times.

Next, standing in first position, squat with both knees back and back to the floor. Hold this position for 15 seconds, then stand up. Repeat this exercise 10 times.

Then to the right, as far as you can without straining. Repeat this exercise six or ten times. This exercise is also excellent for the knees. A hand and a mirror may also follow your ten repetitions for better observation.

The regime I have suggested is not hard, nor does it necessitate any special equipment. It is simple and can be done anywhere, anytime, when you get used to the motion and it is a necessary part of your daily life. If it fails, it will be rewarded as a failure, and not as a waste of time.

Remember that the hips are the base and core of your body and are of great importance to the shape and contour of the hips and waistline.
